

Page Description

For my final WATS 1020 project I plan to make a mock demo authors homepage that features a newly released book. The purpose of this page is to feature the new book, provide a biography of the author, and include a map that features some of the key places around the world that the author talks about in her book. There will also be a validation form for people to get in touch with the author. The page will take advantage of the booklet jquery plugin which simulates an on screen book complete with page numbers and an animated page turn. This is meant to give the potential readers an immersive preview of the book on the page before ordering.

Libraries to use

- Bootstrap/CSS for mobile responsiveness and style
- jQuery for form validation and the booklet jquery plugin to show sample pages of the book in a stylized form
- Leaflet.js for mapping key places in authors book
